The College

Guam Community College is accredited by the Accrediting Commission for Community and Junior Colleges (ACCJC), Western Association of Schools and Colleges (WASC). The College is also a member of the Pacific Postsecondary Education Council, which is a consortium of presidents and chancellors of higher education instruction in the U.S. and U.S.-affiliated Pacific Islands.

Guam Community College is a multifaceted public career technical institution created in 1977. The College offers over 50 courses of study which are career focused, and prepares students for transfer to four-year colleges or universities with advanced standing in professional and technical degree programs. The student population is ethnically diverse. Approximately 2,000 postsecondary students are enrolled in associate degree and certificate programs to include the bachelor’s degree in Career and Technical Education. The College reaches an additional 10,000 people each year through its robust Continuing Education Office. Another 1,800 secondary students are enrolled in career technical education programs that the College offers in Guam’s public schools. The College offers a variety of community service and special programs to prepare students for college experiences including Adult Basic Education, General Education Development preparation and testing, and an Adult High School Diploma program. The College is governed by a seven-member board of trustees.

The Community

Guam Community College is located in the municipality of Mangilao in central Guam. Guam is a U.S. Territory located in the Western Pacific with a population of 160,000.
